GRAPHIC CLAY Juried by Jason Bige Burnett

In the Galleries: Ben Freund, Artwork by Military Service Members, A Revolution Unfolded

Baltimore, Maryland - March 5, 2015 - Baltimore Clayworks is proud to announce four amazing exhibitions in our galleries starting March 14 through May 9, with an opening reception Friday, March 13 from 6-8PM.

The main exhibition, GRAPHIC CLAY juried by Jason Bige Burnett, will highlight new developments and techniques in surface design of ceramic art and will showcase new talent as well as highlight known experts in the field. This vibrant and illustrative exhibition will include methods such as sgraffito, mishima, china paint, ceramic decals and print processes on clay.

Juried Artists: Stuart Asprey (OK), Claire Bresette (TX), Kira Call (MA), Angela Carbone (TX), Amy Chase (KY), Jenny Rose Clay (IL), Allison Cochran (OH), David T. Collins/Luciana M. Lazzarino (GA), Patrick Coughlin (PA), Nicolas Darcourt (MN), Alice Drew (MA), Sydney Ewerth (AL), Mary Patricia Fretz (NY), Justin Gerace (CT), Mia Halton (MD), Kirsten Mae Heteji (NJ), Carol Hurwitch (MD), Bradley Klem (AZ), Marina Kuchinski (IL), Paul Maloney (IN), E Clark Marshall (UT), Colleen McCall (NY), Lynne Molner (MD), Sara Morales-Morgan (PA), Emily Nickel (IN), Rick Nickel (VA), Gin O'Keefe

(MO), Michael Pones (MD), Don Reynolds (CT), Michael Roche (MA), Susan Sidebottom (IN), Rebecca Sipper (GA), Greg Stahly (MI), Missy Steele (MD), David Stevens (OK), Shannon Sullivan (CA), Ian Thomas (PA), Kodi Thompson (FL), Kwok Pong Tso (MO), Stephanie Wilhelm (MD), Scott Ziegler (NC).

Sculptural work by Clayworks' resident artist BEN FREUND will be featured in the Solo Gallery. Freund's work explores the sciences through the lens of the archeological. Elements uses the forms of ancient artifacts as a contemplation of what cultures choose to immortalize. Whereas these forms would have originally been used to commemorate the deeds of gods and kings, he uses them to preserve the foundations of math and science.

On exhibition in the Community Arts Gallery is HEALING JOURNEYS: How Art Serves our Military. This exhibition, curated by Emily Kohlenstein, explores the crucial relationship between the healing power of art and members of the military. The result of an innovative partnership between the Maryland Institute College of Art (MICA) and the Walter Reed National Military Medical Center (WRNMMC), the multimedia exhibition features handmade paper and ceramics by Walter Reed staff, active duty service members and their families, and veterans.

In the Project Space, Baltimore Clayworks, in partnership with the Urban Arts Leadership Program (UALP), presents an exhibition about representation, race and privilege. A REVOLUTION UNFOLDED, curated by Jennifer Gray, will initiate conversation on social and political issues that have emerged in the media within the last couple of years. This show will highlight issues on bias developed by mainstream media and ideologies that have been adopted consciously and unconsciously by artist.

Baltimore Clayworks is a not-for-profit ceramic art center located in the Mt. Washington neighborhood in northwest Baltimore. Founded in 1980, Clayworks is housed in two reclaimed and renovated buildings located across the street from one another. This organization offers classes, artists' spaces, exhibitions, and programs throughout the community. Gallery hours are 10AM - 5PM, Monday through Friday, and 12-5PM Saturday through Sunday.
